CONFEDERATE REUNION

The Compass Whist Club Delightfully Entertained by Miss Nexsen--A Smoker at the Warwick Hotel. Thursday Whist Club.

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., May 30 .- The Confederate ball at the new armory Friday night was one of the most brilliant events of the social season here, and every one connected with the Confederate organizations of the city is being con-organizations of the city is being con-gratulated upon its great success. The arrangements for the affair were in the hands of a number of the most promi-nent ladies of the city, and nothing was left undone that would add to the suc-cess of the dance.

The armory itself was a blaze of splen-dor. The electric lights were brettly shaded with pink tissue and Confederate flags. Hundreds of signal penants and red, white and blue bunting were the decora-tions.

There were over one hundred couptes on the floor, and in one end of the half a large number of spectators were seated. The german was gracefully led by Mr. Allan D. Jones, who introduced many new and beautiful figures.

During the evening the orchestra played the Virginia Reel, and the dancers went through with the old time "square dance" amid applause from the spectators.

"Virginia! Grand and glorious cil Commonwealth! Mother of States! The tread of strangers' feet was heard upon her soil; the then sacred limits or her boundaries were crossed by soldiers' march; her people, taught that she was sovereign within her bounds, came forth from mountain and from valley, from city and from plain, to resist in sternest war and with noblest manhood the invaders of her soil. Virginia, true to invaders of her soil. Virginia, true to the teachings of the fathers-Virginia, bealous of the honor, dignity and giory of the State, sent forth her sons, voil fathers, your brothers, your blood. How but from nearly every those home one went to do battle for the State.

it not, and let it be handed down from sire to son, that posterity may hear of the bravery and heroism of their fathers.

"How interesting it would be to tell of the great leaders and of the heroic deeds of the great leaders and of the heroic deeds of the patriotic soldiers during that mighty struggle.

"To give in detail the history of that splendid soldier in the war with Moxice; that pure, unsuilled statesman, so leadens out of the rights of this people under the Consideral of the property of the rights of this people under the Constitution; that faller chie of the Constitution of the Confederacy with that Confederacy he fell. All hope faded in the darkness of defeat. In prison and in irons he suffered for his people. Brought from Fortress Monroe to this city for trial, under guard, he, like a sheep before the shearer, was durib. As he passed with bowed, but proud, head into the portal of the hotel one brave, true Virginian, looking from a ligh window upon the scene, in shrill and appealing notes, crief out. Hats off, trial in the sum of the confederate leaders, who had aken upon himself the sins of the whole people and freely offered himself. A sacrifice for them all."

"I see the immortal infantry in the death struggle at Chancellorsville and in the tangles of the Wilderness.
"Methicks I see them following Pickett and Armisterd and Garnett and Kemper up the heights of Cemetery Hill into the very laws of death and destruction, marching as proudly us a bridegroom to the marriage altar."
"Methinks that I can see them at Petersburg; at that cruel crater's mouth standing-a wall of protection. I see them on that last sad retreat, still winning victory in battle as their great commander surrenders to the outnumbering foe.

GIBSON TABLEAUX.
On Friday evening a musical and recital with Gibson pictures tableaux, was given by local palent, under the auspices of the St. Luke's Circle, King's Daughters, for the Old Ladles' Home. The participants were drilled by Miss Georgia Roy Me. Millan, of Lumberton, and it proved a most successful and delightful event. The tableaux were strikingly heautiful and unique. There were several features of farec comedy and music and readings of a high order. The readings were by Miss McMillan, Miss Nina Green sang "Swallows" by Cowan. Miss Jessle Higgs sang "Love is Like a Red, Red Rose." Their was a beautiful violin solo, "Scene de Ballet," by Miss Mary Wilson Johnson. Mrs. Wade R. Brown, probably the most gifted vocalist in Raleigh, sang "Carita," by Tifo Mattel.

Attorney-General and Mrs. Robert D. Gilmer have gone to their mountain home, near Waynesville, for the summer, General Gilmer has closed his office here for the time, and will only visit Raleigh as occasion may demand between now and the fall.
